

Figure 4 Blog comments

██████████ said...

I believe that Google is great! Although I feel that if Google remembered your search history or if the search brought up more educational results, Google would be excellent. I do not use search engines often but when I do use them, I find myself searching for educational websites, articles, etc. Also, sometimes I find myself spending hours looking up a topic trying to get results that I could use because a lot of the search results are not educational or very useful. Sometimes I spend even more time trying to remember what I have searched already...so therefore by Google adding these changes to their search engine this would help out tremendously.

2:44 PM

██████████ said...

I personally like google. I usually find exactly what I'm looking for. To me, the only good thing about having a search is that for example, you couldn't find what you are looking for when you type in one or two phrases, your search history will allow you to go back later and let you find out what you phrases you have searched under so you won't have to waste your time by searching that phrase again. I normally do not have to search for things multiple times about the same subject, so I feel that google is great. In the future, I would like to see some of the responses decreased cause if you don't find what you are looking for in the first few, then you probably won't find it at all.

3:44 PM

Post a Comment

<< Home